Overall notes and recommendations

- Structure & cohesion – The site contains many creative narratives (e.g., testaments, Pea Princess Parable, maps) but navigation is inconsistent. Many pages are accessible only through deep links and lack return links; grouping them in an updated index could reduce orphaning.
- Incomplete pages – Several pages are placeholders or blank (myco-nav, veridan.html, zettelkasten header, guestbook index, new OS features). Consider either removing them or adding “Under construction” notices.
- Repetitive content – The Pea Princess Parable appears in multiple files (`p345.html`, `parable.html`, `pip_3.html`). Consolidating the story into one canonical page and linking from others would simplify maintenance.
- Performance issues – A few pages time out because they attempt to load large assets or interactive features (e.g., `royal_ridicuments.html` and `old_index.html`). Optimizing assets and providing lower-bandwidth fallbacks would improve accessibility.
- Accessibility – Many pages rely on heavy JavaScript or dynamic content; providing static summaries (like the codex entries) ensures content remains accessible to all visitors.

This reference should help orient future development and highlight where content is complete versus where stubs remain.
